The committee were of opinion that the general authority conferred upon them in this matter by the resolution under which By general e they were to act, gave them full latitude to | making an appropriation to defray the extend their inquiries to the conduct of any person whatever, which might be construed nto an intringement of the privileges conferred by law upon a member of this body while noting in an official capacity. Taking a signal them, they entered at once upon he discharge of the duties thus imposed on them in such a manner as to enable them to elicit any fact or circumstance necessary to should appear that such intimidation had poses. Passed.

Deen attempted. Thus proceeding, their attention was directed to an occurrence of recent date, of such a character, in their opinion, as to warrant them on entering at once upon an investigation of the facts immediately conrected with he origin, nature, and result of that particular instance; it being a case in which a member of this body was assaulted insulted and abused upon the streets of Jackson, for, in accordanse with the declaration of the party making the assault, his action in certain matters of legislation. who was rudely assaulted on the first instant in a public place, without cause or provocation, by C. S. Bell. The case is an garavated one in every particular, as aphears from the testimony of a number of witnesses who were present at the time of the occurrence. This testimony which is bereny submitted, establishes clearly the Bell having taken umbrage at the action of Senstor sullivan in reference to a matter pending before the Legislature for its conelation, made threats of violence against him, and afterwards approached him upon the streets, and without any apparent provocation or any cause whatever to justify such action, made the assault alluded to, accompanied with the most insulting and abusive language, in wich his private an official character was assailed. From the testimony of the witness Monroe Bell, it appears that said C. S. Bell admitted that at the time when he approached Mr. Sullivan he (Bell) had determined to blow Sullivan's brains out; that this was his firs. Intention on meeting Mr. Sullivan. It is also preven that said C. S. Bell drew and presented a loaded pistol very close to the head of Mr. Sullivan, and at the same time applied to him words of insult and It is further proven that in the attempt of a third party to interfere, said pistol was discharged into the ground, and we therefore inter that it was cocked, ready for instant use, when so presented, close to the head of Mr. Sullivan. That during the difficulty he raised the pistol in a threatening manner. He afterward held the pistot presented in a very messacing attitude, warning ail persons not to intertere, and the violence of his conduct was only arrested by his (Bell) being taken into custody by an officer. It is clearly established by the testimony toat Bell's only alleged cause of complaint had its origin in course pursued by Senator Sullivan in action upon certain measures before the Legislature in his capacity as Senator. The law governing deliberative bodies, so far as their action is concerned in the official character of the members composing such bodies, is well known. That they are shielded and protected in whatever and they do in such capacity is a principe long established. It has always

ORGANIZED IN 1850. The leading Company doing business in MISSISSIPPI. A signal promptness, having paid $50,000 in death losses in Mississippi. The AMERICAN is not a new Company, having its position to make, and its success to attain, under the press and its success to attain, under TTHE AMERICAN meets its obligations with the pressure of the sharp competition of this present enterprising age. This AMERICAN does not extort from the insured, large and extravagant premiums, with the mere ise of paying a portion back in the future; but it sells its patrons a sound Policy for less money than any Company in the U. States The AMERICAN invites investigation into its merits, as those best acquainted with the Company are its best friends.
